

Abstract

The purpose of this cooperative project focuses on the company's software to develop the language. The problem has been gathered and analyze to find solutions. The program solve the storage problem which include details related to the work at the food court system. Firstly problem collecting and then CS&M design screen which follow with HCI principle. In a development process, C# was used for programming and MySQL was used for database management. It is found that these software can reduce error such as operating.

Keywords: Management System / Software Development / Food Court System