Abstract

The purpose of this research is to develop a new online reservation system that will be beneficial for all administrators in terms of customization and access to the data of WIX system and HTML5. This website will therefore create more efficiency for the cooperation in terms of accessibility, accuracy and convenience that leads to user's satisfaction. A booking and reservation system was integrated into the website and content published which resulted in a more user-friendly experience. A login system was also created whereby users may register and login using their Facebook and Google accounts. The resultant website was well received and offered a needed solution to the Enterprise Development Unit's technological problems.
