

REFERENCES

- Chen, G. (2012). The Art of Governance: managing rising expectations. China Development and Governance, 9(11), 6-8.
- Hao, W.W. (2007). American spirit embodied in American movies. The Age of Science, 7(12), 120.
- He, J.P. (2006). Research on Hollywood film mechanism. Shanghai sanlian bookstore, 27(4), 20-27.
- Lan, Q.X., & Zheng, X.D. (2012). Comparison of China's cultural industry's international competitiveness and Its promotion strategy: Based on cross-sectional data analysis in. Finance and Trade Economy, 13(8), 23-25.
- Liang, F., & Hong, L.L. (2012). The Chinese leadership and the internet. China Development and Governance, 9(5), 13-15.
- Liu, L.Q., & Tan, L.W. (2006). Two-dimensional evaluation of industrial international competitiveness: Reflections in the background of global value chains. Industrial Economy, 5(12), 76-77.
- Li, X.L., & Wang, X.M. (2011). Construction of China film international competitiveness evaluation system under the competitive wave of soft power. Beijing film academy, 3(1), 32-37.
- Michael, P. (2002). National competitive advantage. Huaxia press, 7(11), 155-176
- Qiu, Z.H. (2006). The globalization strategy of the Hollywood film industry and China's choice. Film Academic Monthly, 11(6), 18-25.
- Tan, Q.S. (2012). Township government reform: improving local governance. China Development and Governance, 9(12), 10-12.
- Tang, R. (2006). The international competitiveness of the film industry: Domestic situation international comparison and promotion strategy. Contemporary film, 12(6), 8-14.
- Wan, Y. (2007). Evaluation method and measurement of cultural industry competitiveness. Find it, 11(2), 39-41.
- Wu, G.G. (2012). Debating political reform: societal pressures and party-state responses. China Development and Governance, 9(7), 11-12.
- Wu, G.G. (2015). Debating political reform: societal pressures and party-state responses. Paradoxes of China Prosperity, 5(11), 8-9.
- Yin, H., & Zhang, J.Y. (2010). Global multivariate film pattern and cultural construction of Chinese film. Journal of zhejiang media institute, 8(10), 54-58.
- Zhang, G.L., & Zhi, T.R. (2006). Comparison of media industry competitiveness in Shanghai and other big cities. Scientific Development, 4(6), 88-86.
- Zhi, T.R. (2002). A brief discussion on the international competitiveness of Chinese media. China radio and Television Journal, 6(11), 4-7.
- Zhu, C.Y. (2012). A reflection on the performance of China's film and television industry going out" for 10 years. Journalism University, 7(2), 23-25.