Abstract

Bus service provider has 2 ways to sell their ticket, consist of sell via their counter and sell via website. The passenger also have to get him/her ticket by self at provider's counter, that make waste of time. Therefore our team have developed the online bus reservation system and notification on Android to adjust the process to effective by using web application, mobile technology and electronic wallet. The passenger can reserve the bus ticket and payment via the web and the application on Android will notify when near the destination for two kilometers.
